

Event Parking

Plan smart and avoid street closures, congestion and stress! Don't worry about having to find a legal parking space or being tempted to park somewhere you might find yourself ticketed or towed. Consider building light rail into your race day plan. We highly recommend it!

Valley Metro has several free Park and Ride locations and convenient station stops for the event. As an alternative to Park and Rides, also consider parking garages downtown where you then can hop on the light rail to the event. Or, if staying at a hotel, consider one convenient to light rail access. Visit valleymetro.org for more information.

There also is ample free parking right across the street from the finish and expo Phoenix Art Museum location at the Central Arts Tower on the west side of Central Avenue just south of Palm Lane. When choosing to park here, make sure you avoid parking in reserved spaces. Also, do not jaywalk across Central Avenue. Use the crosswalk at Palm Lane & Central Avenue.

When not traveling in on light rail, it is highly recommended that you take a few minutes to view Community from the Pride Run Phoenix homepage to familiarize yourself with street closures and access routes, which will help you navigate on race day.
